HANNIBAL HAMLIN.

The Ex-Vice President Suddenly Dies at Bangor, Me.

STRICKEN WHILE CARD PLAYING

After a Temporary Return to Consciousness He Passed Away—Thus Departs a Man Historic with Lincoln in Trying Times—His Family Called, and About Him at the End—All That Human Power Could Do Was Done, but the Grim Reaper Claimed His Own.

BANGOR, Me., July 6.—Ex-Vice President Hannibal Hamlin died Saturday night at 8:15 o'clock. He was down town in the afternoon and went to the Tarratine club rooms, where he was playing pedro, when his head fell forward on his chest.

HANNIBAL HAMLIN.

A gentleman remarked: "The senator seems to feel badly."

Mr. Hamlin said: "I do."

The men gathered around him, and he was taken to a lounge. Dr. Robinson, who was in the next room, attended him, and afterwards Drs. Mason and Phillips were called. No pulse was visible for an hour, but it was thought they could bring him out. Finally he revived somewhat and managed to articulate freely. The doctors worked over him faithfully and his family was sent for. Soon Mrs. Hamlin, General Charles Hamlin, his son, and his wife and other members were at his side. All was done for him in human power, but it failed, and he passed away peacefully at 8:15 p. m.

Mr. Hamlin leaves a wife and two sons. General Charles Hamlin, a lawyer, of Ellsworth, and Frank Hamlin, now living in Chicago. Mr. Hamlin has been perceptibly failing for a year, but seemed about as usual during the afternoon, and walked down town.

The remains were removed from the Tarratine Club rooms, where he died, to his residence on Fifth street. His son, Hannibal E. Hamlin, arrived here from Ellsworth about twenty minutes after his father's death. His son Frank, now in Chicago, has been sent for, and the funeral will not occur until after his arrival. The deepest grief is felt here on all sides. No definite arrangements are yet made for the funeral.

Hannibal Hamlin, was born in Paris, Oxford county, Me., Aug. 27, 1809. Although fitted early in life for a collegiate education, the death of his father made it incumbent on Hannibal to look after the farm. However, he found time to learn printing, and later studied law, being admitted to the bar in 1833. He practiced at Hampden until 1848. From 1836 to 1840 he was a member of the Maine legislature, returning again in 1847. In 1837, 1839 and 1840 he was speaker of the house, in the latter year receiving a Democratic nomination to congress. He was elected to congress in 1842, and again in 1844.

The death of John Fairfield permitted Hamlin's selection to the United States senate in 1848 as the former's successor. He was elected to the senate in 1851, but resigned in 1857 to be inaugurated governor of Maine, having been elected on the Republican ticket. A month later he resigned to return to the senate, where he served until 1861, when he was elected vice president on the ticket with Abraham Lincoln. He presided over the senate until 1865. He next served a year as collector of the port at Boston.

In 1870 he was appointed regent of the Smithsonian institution, and served twelve years. He had been again elected to the United States senate in 1869 and was re-elected, serving until 1881, in which year he went as minister to Spain. The following year he gave up the office and returned to this country. While an original Democrat, he was a strong anti-slavery man, and thus forced to leave the party. Mr. Hamlin did not seek the abolition of slavery, advocating only the restriction of the institution. Senator Hamlin explained his change of political faith in a speech before the United States senate in 1856, in which he referred to the Democratic convention at that time recently held in Cincinnati, as follows:

"The convention has actually incorporated into the platform of the Democratic party that doctrine which only a few years ago met with nothing but public ridicule and contempt here and elsewhere, namely, that the flag of the Federal Union, under the constitution of the United States, carries slavery wherever it floats. If this baleful principle be true then that national ode, which inspires us always on a battlefield, should be rewritten by Drake, and should read: 'Forever float that standard sheet! Where breathes the foe, but falls before us! With slavery's soil beneath our feet And slavery's banner streaming o'er us!'"

His Meeting With Lincoln.

When he had been elected vice president on the ticket with Mr. Lincoln he accepted an invitation to meet the latter at Chicago, and calling on the president-elect found him in the room alone. Mr.

Lincoln arose, and coming toward his guest said abruptly, "Have we ever been introduced to each other, Mr. Hamlin?" "No, sir; I think not," was the reply. "That is also my impression," continued Mr. Lincoln; "but I remember distinctly while I was in congress to have heard you make a speech in the senate. I was very much struck with that speech, senator—particularly struck with it—and for the reason that it was filled, chock-up, with the very best kind of anti-slavery doctrine." "Well, now," replied Mr. Hamlin, laughingly, "that was very singular, for my one and first recollection of your self is of having heard you make a speech in the house—a speech that was so full of good humor and sharp points that I, together with others of your auditors, was convulsed with laughter." The acquaintance thus cordially begun ripened into a close friendship and it is affirmed that during all the years of trial, war and bloodshed that followed, Abraham Lincoln continued to repose the utmost confidence in his friend and official associate.

THE WATER HOT.

The Lake in the Desert Likely to Soon Be Filled.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 6.—The desert lake at Salton caused a surprise Thursday by the fact that the water receded in the morning, but commenced to rise again, showing that the limit has not been reached. A dispatch from Salton said:

If the water comes from the Colorado river there must now be enough between here and the river to nearly fill the basin, and most likely reach the main line of the Southern Pacific. All the flat part of the basin is now covered with water, and the depth will increase much faster. Section men are making efforts to save the railroad spur, but the water is very hot, and it is feared the men cannot endure it. The water is warm at the bottom.

Two outfits were started out by superintendent Muir, of the Southern Pacific, one from Salton and the other from Obilby. Both parties started in wagons, with a supply of water and provisions, and they will make an effort to locate the exact spot where the water comes through the sand hills, from the Colorado river or the New river, as the case may be. The Colorado river is almost as high as it was last winter, on account of melting snow in the mountains. The operator at Salton telegraphed that the water was rising very slowly, but there was no danger of its reaching the main track, as, at the present rate, it will take six months to do so, and long before that time it is believed that the desert will be dry from evaporation.

AN UNKNOWN'S GRAVE

Filled by a Prominent Wapakoneta, O., Citizen.

DAYTON, O., July 6.—Henry Hollman, aged 68 years, prominent man of Wapakoneta, came here to spend the Fourth with his daughter, Mrs. Frank A. Leiter, and family. In strolling around he stopped in Geismen's saloon, where, after drinking, he was given a place to sleep over night. He could not speak English, and the barkeeper did not know him or pay much attention to his talk, as he paid for what he got.

Friday afternoon Hollman was still around the saloon, and at 4 o'clock suddenly died from heart disease. He had $100 in his pockets, but he could not be identified, and by order of Coroner Myers the body was buried Saturday in potter's field.

By accident Hollman's son-in-law, Leiter, who works in the cemetery, heard of the interment of the unknown, and a little investigation made certain that the body was that of his wife's father. The deceased son, who lives at Wapakoneta, was telegraphed for, and yesterday the body was exhumed and fully identified. It was taken to Wapakoneta last night for final interment.

A MAD ELEPHANT.

It Crushes the Life Out of a Little Boy Riding Him.

DENVER, July 6.—A sickening sight occurred at Manhattan Beach yesterday. The big elephant Rodger became frightened at a balloon and began to trumpet. Five children were on the animal's back.

Johnny Eatton fell, and the big animal stepped on him and crushed his head into a jelly before his mother's eyes and in the presence of 8,000 people. The infuriated animal then beat into the crowd, scattering it right and left, creating a panic.

Fred Kine, the keeper, was struck on the head by Rodger's heavy trunk and seriously injured. Many were injured in the crush by being tramped upon. The escape of the other children was miraculous.

PIERCED THROUGH THE BODY.

A Sky Rocket Carelessly Fired Kills a Chicago Man in Akron, O.

AKRON, July 6.—John Merrill of Chicago, who was here celebrating the Fourth, was the victim of an accident late Saturday night which caused his death. Merrill and some friends were setting off a lot of fire-works, when one of the party carelessly laid a huge sky rocket on the pavement and lighted it.

An instant later it shot from the pavement, striking Merrill in the groin, penetrating his bowels and protruding through his right side. The injured man was taken to his boarding-house, where he died after suffering awful agony.

Fatal Runaway Accident.

MILWAUKEE, July 6.—John Deidrich, a farmer living in the town of Greenfield, was thrown from his wagon and killed yesterday. Mr. Deidrich was returning home from the city with his daughter when his team became frightened and ran away. Both the occupants were thrown out of the wagon. Miss Deidrich escaped with slight injuries.

ANOTHER WRECK.

This One on the Kanawha and Michigan Railway.

FRIGHTFUL LEAP TO DEATH.

Two Cars Filled with Pleasure-Seekers Go Through a Burned Trestle Near Charleston, W. Va.—Fourteen Killed and Fifty-Eight Injured, Some of Whom Will Likely Die.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 6.—The greatest disaster in the history of this community was the wrecking of a Kanawha and Michigan railway train eight miles north of this city Saturday morning. There is a trestle there thirty-five feet high, which took fire some time during the night from some unaccountable cause, probably from a cinder of an engine passing about midnight. While the bridge was not consumed, its foundation was so badly damaged as to render it unsafe to cross.

No notification of the fact was received here, however, and the train, the first of the day, attempted to cross it as usual. The engine, tender and baggage car passed over safely, but the two coaches went through. Engineer Patrick Conner seemed to realize the situation, and pulled open the throttle in the hope of pulling all over safely, but it was too late. Both coaches were crowded and scarcely any one in them escaped injury.

Ten persons were killed outright and four others died later of their injuries. Fifty-eight of the passengers were hurt, some of whom were so badly injured they will die.

The scene of the wreck is three miles from the nearest telegraph office, but as soon as possible a relief train was sent from this city, which returned about 2:15 p. m., bearing the dead and wounded.

SHOT BY HER LOVER.

The Deed Prompted by Jealousy, and the Murderer Escapes.

NEWARK, O., July 6.—The Fourth closed here with a probable murder. The cause leading to the tragedy was jealousy, and the person shot was Belle Imbody, a girl about twenty-three years of age. She was shot twice by an enraged lover, named Fred Kidwell.

He asked her to accompany him, when she refused, and with an oath he said he would shoot.

She begged him not to, but he whipped out a revolver and fired. The ball entered the right breast and as she staggered another ball entered the right shoulder-blade. Both are dangerous, and will surely prove fatal. Kidwell during the excitement escaped.

Two young men, Fred Carlisle and Harry Richardson, passed him and he fired at them. There is great excitement, and at this hour the criminal is being searched for by a large crowd. The shooting occurred on First street, in front of Mrs. Yearly's house.

Gladstone's Eldest Son Dead.

The Effect Upon His Father So Great as to Cause Much Uneasiness.

LONDON, July 6.—Mr. William Henry Gladstone, eldest son of the Right Hon. William Ewart Gladstone, died Saturday morning. The deceased was born at Hawarden, Flintshire, in 1840, and was educated at Christ Church, Oxford, entered parliament in 1865, representing Chester, sat for Whitby, from 1868 to 1880 and subsequently represented East Worcestershire. The late Mr. Gladstone was a lord of the treasury from 1869 to 1874, and was a deputy lieutenant and justice of the peace for Flintshire at the time of his death. Of recent years Mr. W. H. Gladstone lived practically in retirement.

Crisis in Hayti.

NEW YORK, July 6.—The World's correspondent at Port-au-Prince telegraphs his paper that the situation on that unfortunate island is critical. There is intense bitterness on both sides, and self-respecting residents are in constant terror of another outbreak. Hippolyte is master at present. He has placed government troops in charge of every street and the slightest suspicion is accepted as sufficient warrant for the arrest of anybody.

Found Dead by the Railroad.

FRANKFORT, Ind., July 6.—The Vandalia freight crew at 5 o'clock Saturday morning noticed the dead body of a man near the railroad, one and one-half mile south of the city. Investigation proved the corpse to be that of John N. Sutton, a well known young man of Thornstown, Ind. How he met his death is not known, but the cuts and bruises would indicate that he had fallen from a train the evening before.

Workman Falls in a Boiling Vat.

ST. LOUIS, July 6.—While John Milton was stirring the contents of a vat at the National Stock-yards Beef Cannery, East St. Louis, in which huge chunks of meat are boiled to separate the flesh from the bones, he slipped and fell into it. He was in the vat only a few minutes, but the water was boiling hot, and in an instant he literally parboiled. He died at St. Mary's hospital after suffering terrible agony.

Fires in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—There were a number of fires in this city Saturday night as a result of the Fourth of July celebration. The Centenary Methodist Episcopal church and four dwellings were burned, and it was with difficulty that the flames were kept from spreading. One fireman was fatally injured and five others were badly hurt by the falling of a ladder. The total loss is $100,000.

Thrown from a Train.

CLEVELAND, July 6.—A special to The Leader from Youngstown says: William Coe and Charles Adgate, while on a passenger train leaving here at midnight, quarreled over a girl, and Adgate threw Coe off the coach. He fell on the rails and both feet were amputated and his skull fractured. Coe was removed to the hospital and will die. Officers are searching for Adgate, who resides in Warren.

Fatally Stabbed.

LINGTON, Ind., July 6.—Saturday, about 5 o'clock, Alex. Smith, of this place, and Joe Tafflinger, of Marysville, engaged in a fight, the outcome of an old grudge. Tafflinger stabbed Smith several times through the lungs. His recovery is impossible. Tafflinger made his escape, and when last heard from was making his way towards the river hills, pursued by several bailiffs.

Theater Burned.

ST. PAUL, July 6.—The Park theater, until recently known as the Harris theater, was burned early Sunday morning. Loss $40,000. Insurance $35,000. It was at first rumored that several men had lost their lives in the building, but the rumor is as yet unconfirmed. The Bock-Rogers "East Lynne" opera company played their farewell play Saturday night in this house.

A CANVASS of one hundred Missouri newspapers indicates that Cleveland is the choice of the Democrats of that State for President, while the Republican editors largely favor Blaine. It looks very much like these two will be the leaders in '92.

THE Democratic convention to nominate a candidate for the Legislature will be held a week from to-day. The precinct meetings will be held next Saturday. So far Dr. Frazee has no opposition, and he will likely be accorded the nomination unanimously. That is what he deserves.

KENTUCKY CROPS.

Averages and Conditions of the State's Principal Products at the End of June.

Mr. C. Y. Wilson, Kentucky's Commissioner of Agriculture, in his report for the month ending June 30, says:

Corn—This crop was ten days late; has been reasonably well cultivated in the early stages. On low lands a good deal of it is grassy, but it is generally stalky, and has a good color; the stand is good, with a vigorous growth. Some corn lands were abandoned on account of the dry weather in April, which prevented breaking the soil. From this and other causes the acreage is 5 per cent. less than last year. Acreage, 100; condition, 102.

Wheat—With the exception of some complaint of smut and the grain house, there has been but little hindrance to a perfect crop. Very few crops have over three grains to the mesh, some as low as two grains, but the berry is full and plump, and is regarded as the cleanest and best flour-producing crop for years past. The yield per acre is above the average. The average yield per acre will be given after threshing. The present week will close the harvesting. The crop has been shocked in dry condition. The threshers are busy preparing it for market. This important money crop is short in most all the counties to which we generally export our wheat, and it is but just that our farmers should realize a remunerative price. Acreage compared with last year, 105; condition or quality, 115.

Tobacco—There is a general disposition to curtail the acreage and pay more attention to the production of useful tobacco, which is notably the case in the best blue grass counties. There have been no general rains over the State since early in April. Local showers have prevailed; but the State has been well compassed, here and there a county or neighborhood has been skipped. The new machines for setting plants have enabled those who have them to set regardless of a season. These machines will set, with the aid of a driver and two small boys and a water-hauler, three and a half to four acres per day. It requires from one pint to one quart of water to each plant, according to the dryness of the soil. Plants set in this way almost universally live.

I find it impossible yet to get the comparative acreage, but will do so as early as possible. Indications from 1,200 correspondents all point to 10 per cent. acreage above last year. It should be remembered the acreage last year, including missing in the hill, was short of an average.

The most favored sections are the Clarksville district and the burley section from Jefferson County to the Kentucky river, including the counties of Henry and Shelby. The smallest planting and worst condition will be found in the tier of southern burley counties, bordering on the railroad from Louisville to Nashville; also including the counties of Clark, Montgomery and Bath; also the counties of Crittenden, Caldwell, Lyon, Allen, Barren and Warren are reported short in their acreage. The stand is good and the growth vigorous and healthy. From the best information, the acreage is 90 per cent. of an average. Condition, 100; stand, 105.

Oats—In my report of June 1, oats appeared to be a failure. The subsequent reasonable weather will materially increase the yield. Where good rains have fallen on good soil the crop will be an average one. In less favored sections and on poor soil the crop is almost a failure. The stalk is generally short, but well headed. The total crop will be 60 per cent. of an average.

The following frank statement from J. E. Hare, of Trenton, Texas, will be of interest to many of our citizens: "My little boy was very bad off for two months with diarrhoea. We used various medicines, also called in two doctors, but nothing done him any good until we used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which gave immediate relief and soon cured him. I consider it the best medicine made and can conscientiously recommend it to all who need a diarrhoea or colic medicine." For sale by Power & Reynolds.

A REVIEW

Of the Important Changes in the New Constitution—Its Strong Points.

The Proposed Organic Law Framed in the Interests of the People.

Mr. Editor: The "new Constitution" contains so many sections of vital importance to the welfare of our people that are not contained in the "present Constitution," that, attempting to enumerate a few of the most important changes and additions, one is at a loss where to begin, and when a beginning is made, the difficulty will be, how to stop within the limits of a newspaper article. Whilst a majority of our citizens have had an opportunity to read, and learn, the provisions of the new Constitution, very few have had access to, or been able to read the old or present Constitution. I will endeavor to call attention to the changes and the additions, and will say, that all that was good in the old has been retained in the new, and no unfair provisions have been added.

In many States, corporations have induced the Legislature to pass laws, limiting the amount of recovery for injuries resulting in death, or for injuries to person or property.

Section 56 prevents any limitation as to amount of recovery in such cases, and leaves it to the jury. Some States limit the recovery to $5,000—and the same influence has been reduced to five, may bring down the limit to one thousand dollars. We need not fear such influences under the new Constitution, but the people will be able to recover actual damages in all such cases.

Section 44 limits the session of the Legislature to sixty days, and that section will save the tax-payers from fifty to one hundred thousand dollars per year, and will not deprive the people of any rights, because, if the interests of the people demanded it, the Governor could convene an extra session.

Section 65 prohibits all local legislation, and remands such acts to the County Courts, where parties to be affected can be apprised of what is being attempted. The section will save thousands of dollars for the people.

Section 65 prohibits the formation of new counties, save under certain conditions as to size, etc., and section 66 prohibits the division of counties without a vote of the people, and prohibits a change of the county seat unless by a majority of two thirds.

Section 96 renders all State officers ineligible after the first term, except the Auditor, who can hold two terms. After the lapse of one term, all are again eligible.

Sections 104, 105, and 108 regulate the election of Sheriffs, Constables and Assessors, extend the terms to four years, and render them ineligible. All of these provisions mean the betterment of most of our citizens, because they lessen the number of elections, and make the officials more independent.

Section 112 makes it obligatory upon the Legislature to make uniform laws to govern the counties, and to classify the counties if necessary, so that all counties of the same class may have uniform laws, and not have as we now do, special laws for each county.

Sections 111 and 112 regulate the Court of Appeals, making from five to seven judges, and doing away with Superior Court. The result of the changes thus made will not specially affect litigation, and may possibly be better than the present system.

Sections 130 to 144 make a uniform Circuit Court system for the entire State, and does away with all Chancery, Criminal and Common Pleas Courts.

Having a uniform system commends itself to all, and the expense of courts will be diminished.

Section 148 limits the Justices' Districts to not less than three nor more than eight, and Magistrates will be limited to eight, and Constables to the same number, and this section meets the unanimous approval of every one, and will save thousands of dollars and improve the officials.

Section 145 establishes a uniform system of Quarterly Courts, which is a vast improvement over the present system, by which nearly every county has a special law to govern said court.

Sections 144 and 145 provide for a general election, and the holding of but one election each year, Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

State and District officers may be elected at the same time we elect Congressmen; but county and city officials must be elected at a general election. All employers are to allow their employees four hours on election day to attend the election. The purity of the ballot, the peace and good order of the community, and the great saving in time and money commend the provisions of the new sections to the masses, and should insure the adoption of the Constitution.

Section 157 contains stringent provisions against securing an election by bribery, and forbids the charter of any corporation that attempts to carry any measure, or elect any officer by means of bribery or corruption of any kind. That section can be endorsed by every one.

Sections 163, 164 and 165 divide our cities and towns into six classes, make uniform laws for each class, limit the rate of taxation, and the amount of indebtedness. Only one or two objections have been urged against these sections, and they are not tenable. Some contend that it will cripple the material prosperity and prevent the improvement of our cities; but when you consider that Maysville is limited to 75 cents on the $100, and that we assess our property at only 60 per cent. of its value, you can readily see that if the occasion arises we can and will assess at the real value, and 75 cents on full value will be equal to $1.25 on the present value, and that is as high as we have ever paid. The uniformity of the system is its chief recommendation, and the special legislation will be abolished, and the expense of, and contests over, new charters will be no more.

Section 167 extends the term of the Mayor and Police Judge to four years, and that will no longer have annual crises of disorder and non-enforcement of the laws and ordinances. Members of the Council will also be elected for four years. Section 170 and 171 give the cities control over the streets, alleys and public grounds, and give no franchise or privileges to be granted over, through or under them, save to the highest bidder, and limit the term to twenty years. These provisions effectually curb perpetual control of our cities by railway, street car, gas and electric light and fuel companies.

Section 174 makes municipal ordinances conform to the State law in all cases.

Section 180 taxes all property in the State, whether owned by natural persons or corporations, in proportion to its value, and at the same rate. The objection urged by banks against this section is that they will have to pay taxes on the market value of their stock, whilst the farmers pay at the rate of 10 or 15 per cent. If that is the case it will be the fault of the Assessor and not of the law, and the banks will have to get after the Assessors. The hue and cry against banks is, because they pay all their taxes to the State and United States, and none to the county or city; but I will guarantee that there is not a bank in the State that does not pay larger taxes than any individual in the State of equal wealth. With the adoption of the new Constitution the prejudice against banks, so far as the tax question is concerned, will cease.

Section 185 prohibits counties, cities and towns from issuing bonds or loaning credit to any corporation or individual, except to build or maintain bridges and turnpike or gravel roads. This section ought to carry the Constitution, if it contained no other. Some people urge as an objection that it will prevent the building of competing lines of transportation and works of a public nature. The objection is not tenable, because the Inter-State Commerce act and the State Railroad Commission will protect the general public, and private capital can and will build competing lines wherever it will pay, and the provisions in the new Constitution as to trusts and monopolies will regulate all public and private corporations, should an attempt be made to oppress the people.

Section 185 limits the poll tax to not more than $1.50.

Section 194 provides for separate schools. Both sections are wise and popular.

Section 198 provides that no corporation in existence when the new Constitution is adopted shall have the benefit of any future laws or provisions unless it files in the office of the Secretary of State an acceptance of the provisions of the new Constitution.

Section 199 forfeits all existing charters unless there has been a bona fide organization and business commenced under same.

Section 200 prevents the issue of fictitious or watered stock. Hereafter, if you buy any stock at par you are "in on the ground floor."

Section 202 compels corporations to have a known place of business in this State, and an agent there, upon whom process can be served.

If the Constitution carries we can then serve process on the railroad companies, and under section 220 will be able to make them responsible, just as an humble individual is. Now, under the railroad companies are fighting the Constitution, and yet there is not a section of it that infringes upon their just rights, although some of their special privileges will be curtailed.

Section 205 prohibits the giving of free passes to any one holding an office in the State, and makes the official forfeit his office if he has a pass. This section needs no commendation, but no Legislature would ever have been willing to pass it, and you must vote for the Constitution if you would abolish free passes.

Section 220 makes all rolling stock and other moveable property of railroad companies, personal estate, and subject to execution, and all money or property of any kind in hands of its officers, agents, &c., is made subject to attachment or garnishment. In other words, such companies must pay all lawful claims, just as individuals do.

Section 240 provides that when any one is killed by negligence, or wrongful act, his executor or administrator may sue and recover.

Section 253 provides that all wages shall be paid in money. No more tickets to the store, but high-priced goods in lieu of wages, money or property.

Section 257 provides for a grand jury of twelve, nine of whom can indict. All courts but the Circuit shall have only six men on a jury, and the Legislature is empowered to make a verdict by three-fourths of the jury a valid verdict in the Circuit Court. The value of these reforms is beyond calculation, and our State taxes will soon be nominal.

Land Titles are regulated by section 260, and a Home of Reform by section 261.

Section 262 provides that convicts must be worked in the penitentiary, or upon public works, and section 264 forces the first Legislature after the adoption of the new Constitution to settle the question of where the Capital shall be located, and if it fails to locate, then Frankfort is to be the permanent Capital.

The mode of revision is not too complex, and the Constitutional convention, when it again convenes in September, can shape and perfect any minor errors that may be noted.

There are so many good things in the new Constitution that I have been compelled to comment upon a few of them. I have only called attention to about fifty sections out of the two hundred and seventy-two, and I think all of the objectionable ones have been cited, and I trust some one opposed to the new Constitution will point out its objectionable features and give the friends of the new Constitution a chance to be heard. "Yes."

Dr. Samuel Marshall.

Dr. Samuel Marshall, of Lewisburg, died Saturday night and was buried yesterday afternoon. He was about sixty-four years of age. His wife, who was a daughter of Colonel Thomas B. Stevenson, died years ago. Dr. Marshall was the senior member of the firm of Marshall & Stanton, who published the Maysville Express at one time in this city. He was a man of fine intellect, but allowed liquor to destroy much of his usefulness.

A Deaf Mute's Industry.

Ed. L. Jones, a deaf mute, is selling a compound that instantly removes all kinds of dirt and stains, such as grease, paint and fruit stains from clothing and carpets. It is certainly a good article, and is only ten cents a package, which makes it within the reach of all. He is an industrious young man and worthy of patronage, as he has an aged mother to support. He will call upon citizens at their residence. j2d3t

The A. O. of H. Picnic.

The picnic Saturday at Dieterich's grove was a success. A crowd estimated at 700 enjoyed the athletic sports, races, dancing and other amusements.

Jimmy Redmond, Sr., sustained his reputation as a jig-dancer and was awarded the medal. Charley Rudy won the prize for the best standing jump and also for the best running high jump. The sack race was won by James Craven, the three-legged race by Robert Holliday, the egg race by Maurice Hefner, the boxing match by John Paul and the guessing contest by Thomas Farley, Jr.

The net receipts from the picnic amounted to about $80.

Anniversary Services at the Christian Church.

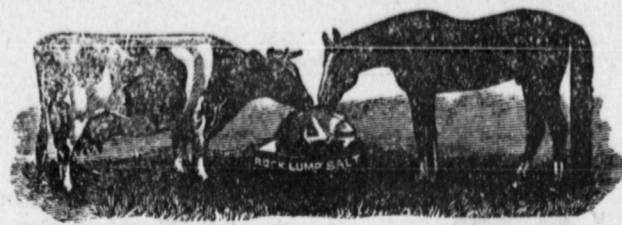

The first anniversary of Rev. C. S. Lucas' pastorate at the Christian Church was celebrated yesterday. A large crowd was present both morning and evening. Rev. E. L. Powell, of Louisville, a former pastor of the church, was in attendance and took part in the services.

From the pastor's remarks at the morning services, it was learned that 123 members of the church died or moved away during the year. Of those who moved away, twenty-six have returned. There were just one hundred additions to the church, by letter and confession, during the twelve months. The present membership is seven hundred. In addition to this, there are one hundred and seven other persons in the city who belong to the denomination, but whose membership is at other points.

The annual report of the Treasurer, Mr. James T. Kackley, shows that the church proper contributed $2,595.69 for all purposes the past year. In addition, the Young Peoples' Society of Christian Endeavor contributed $50.18, the Young Ladies' Missionary Society $60.75, the Ladies' Aid Society $244.80, the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Christian Women's Board of Missions $25.15, the Sunday school $237.07, and the Poor fund amounted to $100.42, making a grand total of $3,314.06.

The church, the Sunday school and the various societies contributed $569.87 for missions during the year.

RETSEF MINING SALT CRMPANY'S ROCK LUMP SALT FOR CATTLE

To FARMERS, STOCK-RAISERS and OTHERS:

It is not generally known that the use of common loose salt for cattle, horses, sheep and hogs, is injurious to them, but such, however, is the fact. Their nature requires only so much salt as will be absorbed by the saliva. By the ordinary method of salting, more or less of the loose salt is carried undissolved into the stomach, causing irritation to the membranes and coating. In many well authenticated instances the death of sheep, and attacks of colic and other difficulties in horses and cows have been traced to this cause. It is very desirable, therefore, that some method of salting stock be employed. The most suitable form of salt for this purpose is furnished by nature in the Rock or Mineral Salt, and the best possible method of supplying it to stock is to place lumps of it in the mangers and other places where it can be easily reached when required by them. It goes four times as far as common salt, and is cheaper at any reasonable price. Any stock will do 20 per cent. better by using our Rock Salt. They do not have that terrible thirsting for water caused by using common salt, which contains large quantities of lime and magnesia, our salt being the only salt known free from these impurities.

SHOT AT BLUE LICKS.

George Weisbrodt Receives Wounds That Are Pronounced Fatal.

George Weisbrodt, of Mayslick, was shot and fatally wounded at Blue Lick Springs yesterday afternoon.

It occurred about 2:30 o'clock. Weisbrodt was standing on the pike talking to two men in a buggy when a drunken character named Riley Macklin approached and remarked, "I'm going to kill you."

Weisbrodt replied that he had done him no harm and didn't want any trouble. The next instant three shots rang out on the air, and Weisbrodt fell with a wound in the neck and another in the region of the heart. The first ball did not strike him.

Macklin walked a few steps, stuck his pistol in his pocket, jumped over into a cornfield and escaped. He was followed a short distance, but his pursuers gave up the chase when told he was a bad man.

Weisbrodt's wounds are pronounced fatal, but he was still alive at last accounts.

An unfulfilled promise is as badly and irrevocably fractured as a shattered egg shell. The time to reflect is when you are making it, for reflection may not serve your purpose afterwards.

Whatever we say in printer's ink, is, in our judgement, as binding upon us as though an affidavit backed up every word of it.

Of course we make a specialty of Shoes of the best quality, but less superior grades receive as conscientious care at our hands as though they had the glitter and brilliancy of that aristocrat of the trade—polished leather. There is this distinguishing feature about them all: They always realize your expectations and frequently surpass them.

We don't often make mistakes, and if we did we would rather make them in your favor than ours.

BACK TO SAN DIEGO.

Arrival of the Charleston and the Insurgent Steamer Itata.

GOOD TIME FROM IQUIQUE.

Twenty-Three Days in Making the Trip. The Captain of the Itata Claims to Have Not Violated the Neutrality Law—Incidents Connected With the Trip.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 6.—The Chilean transport Itata and the United States steamship Charleston arrived in port Saturday morning. The Itata came into the harbor without delay and anchored in her former position near the wharf, while the Charleston remained outside and anchored opposite the hotel Coronado, about a mile from the shore. The Itata had the Chilean flag and all her signal flags flying when she came into the harbor in honor of the national holiday.

The Itata was at once boarded by revenue officers, who found her in charge of several of the Charleston's officers. She also had on board her former sailing master, Captain Maunzen and most of his former Chilean crew, but was commanded by a Chilean military officer named Tepedo. An attorney to represent the insurgents was also on board, as well as three passengers from Chili, and Captain Coston, of the marine corps, from the United States steamship Baltimore, who had been ordered home on sick leave. Silva Palma, commander of the Esmeralda, who was on board the Itata when the vessel was here before, was not brought back.

Shortly after the vessels arrival, Lieutenant Churchill came ashore and telegraphed his report to the navy department.

The Itata and Charleston came direct from Iquique, being out twenty-three days. They averaged between eight and nine knots per hour during the trip. The Itata's machinery, which was said to have been purposely damaged by the insurgents, is said to have worked admirably until within the last two or three days of the journey. Arrangements were immediately made to turn the Itata over to the proper United States authorities.

Large crowds visited the vessels yesterday, but the public were not allowed on board of either ship. From one of the Itata's passengers it was learned that the Itata has on board the arms and ammunition taken from the schooner Robert and Minnie, and also the provisions bought at this port. Captain Maunzen says he is confident that they have not violated the neutrality laws in any way, at least they had no intention of doing so, the "opposition," as the congressional party is called in Chili, being very anxious to keep on friendly terms with this government. He said also—and this was corroborated by the naval officers—that the congressional party now has much the best of the contest; that if it can secure ammunition, arms and provisions its early success is assured.

The officers and passengers on the Itata relate some interesting incidents connected with the arrival of the vessel at Iquique and her subsequent departure under convoy of the Charleston. They state that the demand of the American admiral on the insurgent authorities for the surrender of the vessel was accompanied by the following message: "If you refuse and do not give her up peacefully, I will seize every one of your ships and blockade every port on your coast."

The insurgents quickly replied by turning over the vessel and cargo to the United States authorities. Captain Schley of the Baltimore went aboard the Itata and presented an order to Captain Maunzen confiscating the vessel. Maunzen replied: "That's all right. Take the ship; but I'm a German citizen and you can do nothing with me."

The commander of the Esmeralda, when he saw that the insurgents would surrender the Itata, on which he still was, dropped overboard and escaped to the shore where he was safe from pursuit. After the surrender preparations were at once made for the return and Lieutenant Commander Todd and Ensign Churchill, from the Charleston, took charge of the Itata.

FOURTH OF JULY CASUALTY.

An Amateur Aeronaut Drops to Death at New Lisbon, Ohio.

NEW LISBON, O., July 6.—The thousands of persons who assembled here Saturday to participate in the celebration and witness the closing performance, a balloon ascension and a parachute drop, were treated to a horrifying spectacle which they will never forget. The day closed with an accident which resulted in the instantaneous death of one man and the fatal injury of another.

The aeronaut was Charles J. Jones, of Cleveland, a member of the Brady Aeronaut company. The ascent was to have been made at 3 o'clock. Among the bystanders who volunteered to assist in filling the balloon was William Hennessy, who took his position on the inside of the balloon and was instructed by Professor Brady to hug the side of the stack when the balloon was cut loose. When the balloon started Hennessy's foot caught in one of the ropes and he was unable to extricate himself, but continued struggling between the parachute and balloon proper to free himself till the balloon had reached the alarming height of 150 feet, when he grasped the rope by which the parachute is attached, thereby cutting loose the parachute from the balloon, and plunging himself and Jones, who was on the trapeze below, to the ground.

He fell so heavily that the noise was heard a block away, and died almost instantly. Jones is perhaps fatally injured. Hennessy leaves a widow and several small children, one of whom is blind and helpless. The money which was to have been paid for a successful ascension and descent, will be given the widow.

Awaiting Their Doom.

SING SING, N. Y., July 6.—All of the preparations for the execution of the four murderers who are under sentence of death here are completed and although no intimation has been given by Warden Brown of the time when the execution will take place, it is the general opinion that the men will be executed in a very few hours.

A Man Falls Into a Tank of Hot Water.

LIMA, O., July 6.—W. Shane, aged about 40 years, was working on a plank over the mouth of a condenser at the Standard Oil refinery, when he missed his footing and fell into the hot water, which covered his body above the hips. There was no help near and he was compelled to remain in the water, his limbs being slowly boiled. He will not recover.

Realistic Sham Battle.

CLEVELAND, July 6.—During a sham battle at Youngstown, O., Saturday Bessie Cronin, aged 7, was instantly killed, her sister was terribly burned and Katie Fleming, aged 14, had an eye blown out by a signal rocket. Miss Lizzie Boswell was also badly injured and Dr. Jones was shot in the side by one of the soldiers and seriously hurt.

Kuhns Guilty of Second Degree Murder.

TIFFIN, O., July 6.—Court convened Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, and the jury in the Kuhns case, after a deliberation of nine hours, returned a verdict of murder in the second degree against Marvin Kuhns, the murderer of William L.
